KEY FEATURES OF THE RETIREMENT SOLUTIONS COMPANY PENSION PLAN

The Financial Conduct Authority is a financial services regulator. It requires us, Royal London, to give you this important information to help you decide whether our Retirement Solutions Company Pension Plan is right for you. You should read this document carefully, so that you understand what you're buying, and then keep it safe for future reference. If you're concerned that this plan may not be suitable for you, contact a financial adviser.

This is an important document and you should read it together with your illustration. Please read it and keep for future reference.

This document contains the following information:

- the aims of the Retirement Solutions Company Pension Plan
- your commitments if you join this plan
- the risks associated with this plan
- questions and answers that explain this plan's main features
- how to contact us.

This plan meets your demands and needs if you want to save for your retirement.

ITS AIMS

- To build up a sum of money tax efficiently which, depending on the scheme rules, will provide you with retirement savings any time after age 55.

YOUR COMMITMENT

- You and/or your employer agree to make regular contributions to your account within this plan until your normal retirement date. You can also make a single contribution or a transfer payment from another pension plan.
- You need to tell the trustees if your circumstances change. For example, if you no longer have UK earnings or are no longer resident in the UK.
- You can't cash in your account until you're allowed to access your retirement savings.

- If you take retirement savings from another pension plan, you need to tell the trustees as this may trigger the MPAA (money purchase annual allowance). For more information about this, see the What about tax? section.

RISKS

- We can't guarantee what you'll get back at your normal retirement date. Various factors can alter your account value. For example:
 - Investment performance, interest rates and charges may be different to those illustrated.
 - You could stop making regular contributions or take a contribution holiday.
 - You might take some or all of your retirement savings earlier than your normal retirement date.
 - Tax rules depend on individual circumstances and may change.
 - Investment returns are never guaranteed. So while there's a chance your retirement savings could grow, their value can also go down. This means you could get back less than you started with.
- You should be aware that taking a large cash lump sum could increase the amount of tax you pay. See the What about tax? section for details.

- If your account's started with a single contribution or transfer payment and is then cancelled within 30 days, the amount returned will be less than you paid in if the value of your investment has fallen. The amount returned may also be reduced if the trustees have agreed that an adviser will receive an adviser charge payment which we'll deduct from your account for services provided to you by an adviser in respect of your account.
- If you transfer retirement savings from another pension plan, you may be giving up valuable benefits, and there's no guarantee that your retirement savings will be more than if you'd stayed in your previous plan.
- If you invest in the Royal London With Profits fund, we may reduce this value by applying a market value reduction if you take money out of the fund at any other time than your normal retirement date. The market value reduction is applied to ensure that the amount we pay you isn't unfairly higher than your share of the Royal London With Profits fund.
- Putting even small amounts into a pension plan can affect your entitlement to means tested State benefits.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What is a company pension plan?

A company pension plan allows you to build up money tax efficiently for retirement to provide you with a retirement income for life, cash lump sum(s) and/or tax-free cash.

We designed the Retirement Solutions Company Pension Plan for people who want to build up tax efficient savings in a flexible way.

You have an individual account within this plan.

The scheme is run by the trustees on your employer's behalf. As the scheme is established under trust, your account's held separately from your employer's business.

What contributions can be made into my account?

Your employer may make regular contributions to your account.

You may be required to make contributions to your account at an agreed rate. You may also pay Additional Voluntary Contributions (AVCs) if they're offered.

You can also make single contributions at any time to top up your account.

If you have another pension plan, you may be able to transfer it into your account.

You can ask to stop contributing, or reduce contributions to your account. You can also ask to take a contribution holiday and then restart contributions again. Stopping or reducing contributions may reduce the amount you get back from your account. You can ask the trustees for more information about the effect of stopping or reducing your contributions.

Your contributions are taken from your salary before tax is deducted and are usually paid to us by your employer.

Contributions made using salary exchange

Salary exchange is an agreement between you and your employer where you voluntarily exchange part of your gross salary in return for employer contributions into your account.

These contributions are taken before tax and National Insurance Contributions (NIC) are paid. As your salary's reduced, you pay less tax and NIC. Salary exchange may not be suitable for everyone. You should speak to the trustees for more information.

Where are the contributions invested?

The trustees normally make the investment choice, but they may take your wishes into account when making their decisions.

Your contributions, including any made on your behalf, are pooled with those made by other investors in unit-linked funds. These are invested in a range of different types of funds, including company shares, property, bonds and cash.

The unit-linked funds are made up of units, which you buy with your contributions. The price of these units depends directly on the value of the investments in the fund.

We work out the value of your investment in each unit-linked fund based on the total number of units you have in the fund and the unit price (the price at which we buy and sell units). If the unit price rises or falls, so will the value of your investment in the unit-linked fund.

You can read about the investment options in our Pension investment options guide.

If the trustees don't tell us how to invest your contributions, we'll invest your contributions according to the plan's default investment choice.

With the agreement of the trustees, you can switch your investments or change the investment choice for future contributions, although there may be conditions and a charge for doing so.

With the agreement of the trustees, if you don't use the scheme default investment, there may be an additional charge.

We have the right to delay a transfer, switch of investments or retirement not at your normal retirement date. We'd do this to protect the interests of everyone invested in that particular fund.

With profits

Any contributions into the Royal London With Profits fund are used to buy units. The price of these units stays the same and the investment performance is paid out as additional units when we allocate regular and final bonuses to your account.

We work out the value of your investment in the Royal London With Profits fund based on the total number of units you have, any regular bonus due but not yet paid, and any final bonus due. We may reduce this value by applying a market value reduction if you take money out of the fund at any time other than your normal retirement date.

If the trustees are considering investing in the Royal London With Profits fund, we'll give you the booklet A guide to how we manage our with profits fund which you should read together with this key features document. This guide is a customer-friendly version of our Principles and Practices of Financial Management. It's important that you read and understand this document as it describes the way in which we manage our with profits business.

ProfitShare

We believe our customers should share in our success. That's why we'll aim to give your retirement savings an extra boost by adding a share of our profits to your account each year. We've called this your ProfitShare.

How ProfitShare works

We'll review our financial strength and performance at the end of each year to decide if ProfitShare can be awarded.

We aim to award between 0.15% and 0.25% of the value of your account. You could get more or less than this and there's no guarantee that we'll be able to award ProfitShare every year.

ProfitShare awards will be applied in April each year as long as your account was in force on 31 December the previous year and on the date the award is given. They'll be based on the value of your account at the date of the award and will be invested in the same investment choice as your other retirement savings to help it grow.

Any ProfitShare you're awarded will belong to you. We'll never ask for it back.

You can take any ProfitShare you've built up along with the rest of your retirement savings any time after age 55.

If the trustees decide to invest in with profits, we'll work out your ProfitShare in a different way. You can find more information in the Royal London With Profits Fund factsheet.

If the company pension plan started before 1 July 2001, you won't qualify for ProfitShare. You should contact the trustees to find out if this applies to you.

What might I get when I access my retirement savings?

Your illustration will provide an indication of what you might get back at your normal retirement date, although this can't be guaranteed.

What can I do with my account when I access my retirement savings?

Depending on the scheme rules, you'll normally have access to your retirement savings any time after age 55. You don't need to do anything immediately as your retirement savings can remain invested, but you'll need to make a decision before you reach age 75.

You'll be able to use your account value to:

- take a cash lump sum which can be some or all of your retirement savings, however only 25% of what you take will be tax-free
- buy a secure income which will provide you with an income for life, or up to 25% tax-free cash and a smaller income for life, this is often called 'an annuity'
- transfer to an income drawdown plan so you can receive an income and/or cash lump sum(s)
- or a combination of all the options.

An annuity is a financial product that provides a guaranteed retirement income for life in return for a lump sum payment.

Different types of annuity are available to suit your individual circumstances.

If you want to buy a secure income, you don't have to buy it from us. You can shop around to find the best rates and products for you.

An income drawdown plan is a financial product that normally provides you with tax-free cash and an income directly from your plan. The income you receive isn't guaranteed for life.

If you want to transfer to an income drawdown product, you can shop around to find the best rates for you.

You don't need to have stopped working to take retirement savings from your account.

What happens if I die?

We'll normally pay out your account value as a lump sum to the trustees who'll then decide who to pay it to.

If you've set up a trust to receive the death benefits, we'll pay the lump sum to the scheme trustees who will then pay the retirement savings to the trustees of your trust.

If you die after you've started taking your retirement income, a secure income will be paid to your beneficiaries such as your spouse, civil partner or dependants, if you choose this option at your retirement.

What happens if I leave my employer?

If you leave your employer, your contributions to your account must stop. Any contributions made by your employer will also stop.

Your options will depend on how long you've been a member of this plan. Please speak to the trustees for more information.

What are the charges?

We'll apply a charge for managing your account.

If you receive advice or a service from a financial adviser in relation to the Company Pension Plan, charges may be deducted from your account to cover the cost of that advice or service.

You don't need to receive individual advice or agree an adviser charge with a financial adviser to join your employer's Company Pension Plan. And if you do agree an adviser charge with a financial adviser, these charges must relate to the specific services you receive on your account. Your financial adviser must discuss and agree the services they'll provide to you in return for any adviser charges that will be deducted from your account.

If you, your employer or the trustees instruct us to make any additional transfer in, single contribution or increase to your regular contributions and also confirm that you're not using an adviser, we may apply an additional administration charge to your account.

Your illustration will show you the charges that will apply to your account, including any charges for the advice and services your financial adviser will provide. It will show when the charges will be deducted from your account and how they may affect the value of your retirement savings.

If before you reach your normal retirement age you die or you transfer your retirement savings away, we may deduct any outstanding initial charges still to be deducted from your account for advice and/or services provided by an adviser before we pay out your account value on death or transfer.

If your employer's automatically enrolling you into their company pension plan to meet their duties to provide a suitable workplace pension, then the charges are subject to a charge cap. This cap is 0.75% and applies to the default investment for the company pension plan.

We regularly review our charges and they could change in the future.

What about tax?

Our pension investment funds are generally free of UK income and capital gains tax. However, we can't reclaim tax deducted at source from the dividends of UK company shares.

There are limits on the amount you can invest in pension plans and on the maximum value of retirement savings that you can build up without being subject to a tax charge. These limits are known as the annual allowance and the lifetime allowance.

If you want to make contributions to your account after you've taken all or some of your retirement savings, you may be limited to what you can contribute and receive tax relief on. This is known as the money purchase annual allowance (MPAA). Please note that this is considerably lower than the annual allowance and relates to any pension plan you have, not just this one.

If you want to find out more, speak to your financial adviser or visit your pension scheme website.

You don't receive tax relief on payments you transfer into your account from another pension plan.

If you move overseas, restrictions may apply. To find out more, speak to a financial adviser.

If you die, there's normally no inheritance tax payable on the value of your account, unless it forms part of your estate.

The retirement income you receive will be taxable as earned income. You can normally take up to 25% of the value of your account tax-free, however the remainder of your account will be taxed as earned income. If you take a large cash sum, you could end up paying more tax. It's important to check whether the cash sum will push you into a higher tax bracket.

Any death benefits are normally payable tax-free.

Tax rules depend on individual circumstances and may change.

We recommend you get professional advice if you need more information on tax.

Can I transfer my account?

You can transfer your account to another pension plan at any time, as long as the trustees agree.

Your illustration gives examples of how much you could potentially transfer to another pension plan, depending on when you transfer and how your investments perform.

We may also take a market value reduction from your account. This could happen if you've invested in the Royal London With Profits fund.

Can I change my mind?

You can opt out of this plan. Your plan documents will tell you how and when you can do this. As long as you opt out of this plan within your opt out period, we'll arrange for your contributions to be refunded. If you've taken any lump sum(s) from your account, these would need to be repaid. If you don't opt out, your account will continue.

How will I know how my account's doing?

We'll send the trustees a yearly statement to show how your account's doing.

You can check the prices of the funds you're invested in online.

You can also get an online valuation, as long as the trustees agree.
