

TAILORED CHILDREN'S CRITICAL ILLNESS COVER

No one wants to think about children getting seriously ill, but unfortunately it's more common than you might think. In fact, children's critical illness was the fourth main reason for a claim on our Critical Illness Cover in 2017.*

If a child is ill, it can put a financial strain on a family as well as an emotional one. Financial support could help parents to meet extra costs – such as unpaid time off work, travel to hospital, and childcare for their other children.

When it comes to children's cover, what suits one client might not suit another. And the needs of a family are bound to change over the years. So when your clients take out our Critical Illness Cover, they can now choose a level of Children's Critical Illness Cover to meet their needs and budget. And if their needs change, they can change their cover easily over the phone – without giving us any medical information.

Enhanced Children's Critical Illness Cover

For clients who have children, or who are planning to start a family, and want our most comprehensive cover.

Standard Children's Critical Illness Cover

For clients who want some children's cover – perhaps for older children, or who may have a tighter budget.

No Children's Critical Illness Cover

For clients who don't have any children, or who don't have immediate plans to start a family.

Parents pay an average of £2,256

in extra costs over the course of a baby's hospital stay

Flexible, tailored protection

Your clients can change their Children's Critical Illness Cover at any time without giving us any medical information.

You can simply call us to request the change and a quote will be given over the phone, or it can be emailed to you. We'll then update your clients' cover as soon as they give us either written or verbal instructions to do so.
