- This draft Deed is supplied merely as a specimen for consideration by potential parties together with his/her legal and other professional bodies. Royal London cannot accept any responsibility for the consequences of its use in any circumstances whatsoever. Therefore, it is important that the parties take legal advice before completing this Deed.

1 Use of this Deed

Please read this section.

An assignment of a policy is a transfer of the benefit of the policy from the Assignor(s) to the Assignee(s).

This Deed of Assignment is intended for use in the following situations where a life policy (not a pension policy) is being assigned:

1. An outright gift of a policy from one person to another e.g. from parent to child.
2. A transfer of a policy to trustees to hold upon the trusts of a settlement.
3. The assignment of a policy by trustees to beneficiaries who are absolutely entitled to the policy under the terms of a settlement.

This Deed should not be used where the policy is subject to an existing charge or mortgage – nor where the transfer is for consideration.

It is not possible to assign only part of a policy, the whole policy must be assigned. Where a policy in joint names is being assigned into the sole name of one of the parties, both parties must act as Assignors, as Royal London policies are written in joint tenancy.

The assignment of a policy does not alter the life (or lives) assured. Therefore if a policy on the life of A is assigned to B, the policy proceeds are still payable on the death of A – not B. To change the life assured requires endorsement of the policy (if possible) which is dealt with by the appropriate Royal London Servicing Department.

English law applies to this Deed.

2 Steps to complete the Deed

Please read this section.

1. The full names and addresses of the Assignor(s) and the Assignee(s) must be given.
2. The policy number must be given together with the life (or lives) assured.
3. If the Assignees are Trustees, details of the Trust must be given.

3 Completing the Deed of Assignment

Please read this section

It is very important that the parties take legal advice before completing this Deed.

1. Dating the Deed

The date of the Deed should be inserted where shown. This date must not be before the date of the policy.

2. The Assignor(s)

Details of the Assignor(s) should be entered here. The Assignor(s) must be the owner(s) of the policy(ies) being assigned.

3. Assignment Details

The relevant box in part 3 should be ticked to indicate whether the assignment is to an individual absolutely, or to the trustees of a settlement. One box only should be ticked.

4. Schedule – Box A

The details to be used to identify the policy being assigned should be entered here. Details of the policy number and the life/lives assured must be inserted. Only one policy may be made the subject of each Deed.

5. Schedule – Box B

Complete either Schedule Box B or Box C.

Where the policy is being assigned to an individual (or individuals) absolutely, the name(s) and address(es) of the assignee(s) should be entered here together with details of their shares (where applicable). The joint shares should amount to 100%. If unequal shares are specified but they do not amount to 100%, the shares shall be adjusted proportionately. If no shares are specified the assignees will be entitled in equal shares. The assignee(s) should be aged 18 years or over.

6. Schedule – Box C

Where the policy is being assigned to trustees, details of the Declaration of Trust must be entered here. The date of the Declaration of Trust must be inserted together with the names of the original parties thereto.

7. Signing the Deed

The Deed must be signed by the assignor and by the assignee(s) – and the appropriate box (or boxes) must be ticked in respect of each signature. Royal London policies are written under joint tenancy, therefore if the policy is owned by two policyholders, both policyholders will need to act as assignors. The name of the person signing should be printed in block capitals where shown and each signature should be witnessed. Only one witness to each signature is required. A witness to one party's signature may also act as a witness to another party's signature. One party to the Deed should not however act as a witness to another party's signature.

The full name, address and occupation of each witness must be clearly stated.

All relevant parties must sign the Deed – and tick the relevant box (or boxes) to identify their role (or dual roles).
