Your death benefits

If you die before taking all the retirement savings from your plan, the value of your plan will be paid out in accordance with the rules of The Royal London Stakeholder Pension Scheme (No2).

Royal London (the administrator of the Scheme) will use its discretion to decide who should receive the value of your plan. You should complete the table below to nominate who you would like Royal London to consider paying the value of your plan to and you can change this nomination at any time by writing to Royal London. Royal London will take account of your nomination, but won't be bound by it. By distributing the value of your plan in this way, this is normally paid free of inheritance tax.

We only use this information to pay your retirement savings in the event of your death. Please make sure your beneficiaries are aware of how we use their information.

Name and relationship	Proportion of fund (%)
Total	100%

There are other ways in which the value of your plan can be paid out, however, these may result in the payment being subject to inheritance tax. You may wish to discuss the other options with your financial adviser. Should you wish to choose another option, you must inform Royal London in writing.
