INTRODUCING GRIPS

When you're saving for retirement you can usually afford to ride out the ups and downs of the stockmarket. But when the time comes to start taking income the impact of investment returns can have a much greater effect on your savings.

If you suffer losses in the early years it can be hard to recover, and could result in you having to take a reduced income in order to avoid running out of money. This means it can be difficult to know how much income your retirement savings can sustain over a period of time. A financial adviser can help you to discuss your own individual investment needs.

GRIPs are designed for people who want to take a sustainable income from their pension. They aim to deliver growth above inflation to support regular income withdrawals, whilst taking a level of risk consistent with your attitude to risk.

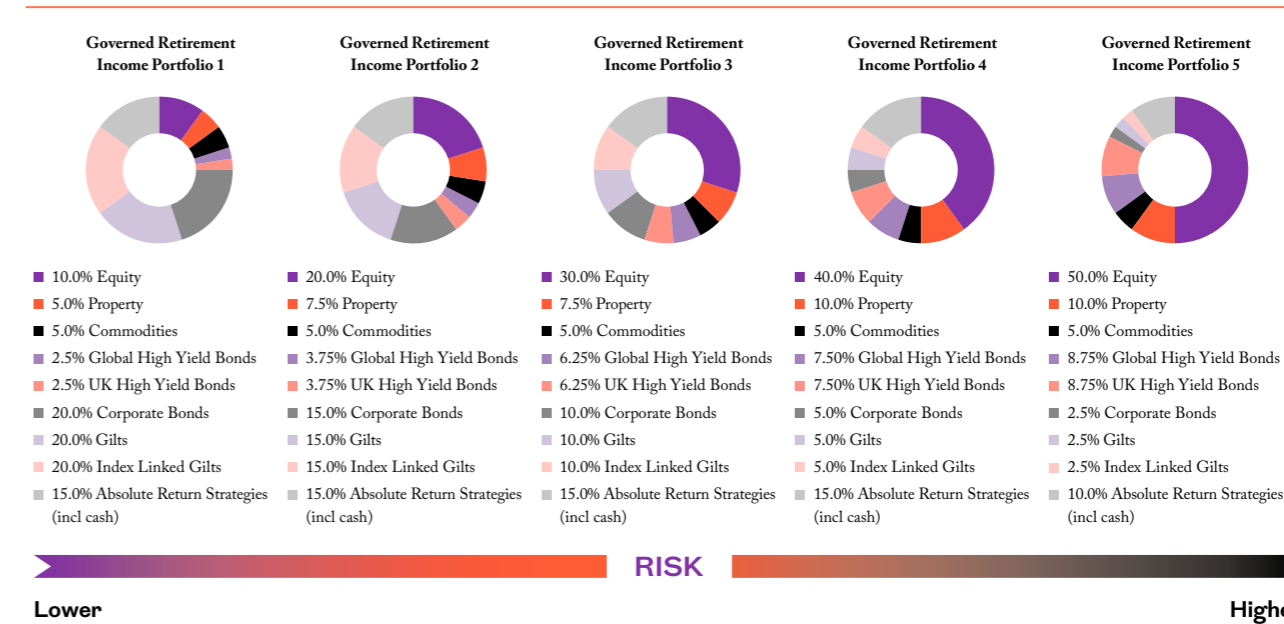

GRIPs are also designed to be resilient and have delivered strong performance against recent challenging market conditions including the uncertainty of Brexit, the 2016 US Election and the devaluing of the Chinese Yuan.

GRIPs form part of our Governed Range, so they benefit from regular reviews, hands-on supervision and ongoing fine-tuning. This governance is intended to ensure the GRIPs meet their objectives.

And this governance comes at no extra cost.

A CLOSER LOOK AT GRIPS

There are five portfolios to choose from and each one is made up of a diversified mix of asset classes.

We want to try and get the best returns we can for you, in line with how you feel about risk. Doing that means investing in a range of different things called 'asset classes'. How much you invest in each asset class depends on how much (or how little) risk you're comfortable with.

The diagram above shows that as you move from GRIP 1 to GRIP 5 the mix of assets changes from lower risk to higher risk.

The higher risk you're willing to take with your investments, the higher your potential return, but the greater your chance of loss.

Lower risk investments on the other hand offer greater security but lower potential returns.

It's important to remember that the value of investments can fall as well as rise and you could get back less than you pay in.

Your financial adviser can help you decide which GRIP would suit you best.

ASSET CLASSES EXPLAINED

The GRIPs are made up of a diversified mix of asset classes, an explanation of each is given below.

EQUITIES

Companies sell shares to raise money, and pay you a share of their profits as 'dividend'. Investors buy and sell shares on stock markets. The price goes up or down based on how well the company is doing, or what its prospects are. It's also worth bearing in mind some overseas stock markets are more volatile than UK shares, and currency exchange rates can affect them.

PROPERTY

Within the GRIPs, we invest in high quality commercial and industrial property such as industrial estates, office buildings and high street retail units. The returns received are linked to the valuation of these properties and the rental income received. The managers make significant effort to redevelop existing properties to improve their appeal and to generate increased rental income.

COMMODITIES

Commodities are a basic good, such as grain, gold, or oil which is exchanged in the market place with other commodities of the same type. Recently the definition has expanded to include financial products such as foreign exchange and indexes.

ABSOLUTE RETURN STRATEGIES

(including cash)

They invest in a wide array of assets and aim to produce a positive return, even when share markets are volatile, flat or falling.

CORPORATE BONDS

Effectively, you lend money to a company for a set time at a set interest rate. The returns are predictable, with more chance of them growing than deposits. The main risk is that the company goes bankrupt without paying back the loan. Even so, bonds tend to be less volatile than shares.

HIGH YIELD BONDS

High yield bonds are bonds which can experience bigger movements than standard corporate bonds. High yield bonds pay a higher level of interest than some other bonds which can result in higher returns, but it is also more likely that the issuer of the bond will fail to re-pay the loan which would affect the value of investments.

GOVERNMENT BONDS

(Gilts)

These are like corporate bonds, but you're lending to the government. People see gilts as low-risk, because the government is unlikely to go bankrupt. Like corporate bonds, gilts are less volatile than shares and the chances of returns growing are better than with deposits.

INDEX LINKED GOVERNMENT BONDS

Index linked gilts are suitable for an investor that would like a fixed return that is inflation-proof. This protection is achieved by adjusting the fixed return in line with the movement of the Retail Price Index. In comparison the traditional gilt pays back the amount invested in full plus interest which is dependent on interest rates..
